Lobster is among the most elegant of foods, and can be enjoyed in so many ways. Simply steamed, it's delectable. But it's also a delight in a summer lobster roll, a steakhouse seafood tower, surf & turf, or even in a mac and cheese.

National Lobster Day will be celebrated on September 25, and it's a great time to try out some of the most inventive lobster dishes found at restaurants around the country.

At Marcellino Ristorante in Scottsdale, Arizona, a seafood lover's dream. The Santa Lucia Fettuccini features a housemade squid ink-infused pasta sautéed with mussels, clams, and calamari in a slightly spiced tomato sauce. The dish is topped with a half of a fresh Maine lobster in the shell. “My wife and I travel to Italy every summer and spend much of our time at seaside locations. Enjoying the bounty of the ocean inspires many of our specialty dishes. The Santa Lucia Fettuccini is one of those dishes, and it has become a longtime favorite. Salty crustaceans and the rich taste of lobster, paired with silky pasta allow our guests to experience a taste of coastal Italy,” said Marcellino Verzino, chef/owner Marcellino Ristorante.
